

Travel tips involving wheelchair users

“We can’t be the first family with a wheelchair to do this” said former travel consultant Julie Jones, on her recently created website ‘Have Wheelchair Will Travel’

Julie has been travelling since childhood when her family took her out of school for six months to explore Europe, Egypt and Scandinavia. She was determined to show the wonders of the world to her own family and the birth of her son diagnosed with Cerebral Palsy did not deter her from her goal.

“As an ex travel consultant I put a lot of time and effort into researching and planning our trip and we had a fantastic time. When we returned it seemed a waste not to share the information with more people and that was when the website idea became a reality. The idea of sharing the information about our USA trip then grew into sharing information about our home city, Sydney with others coming from overseas and it is now an ongoing work in progress,” said Julie

There are great tips throughout the website. For example a full wheelchair service is essential and a basic repair kit is highly recommended. Julie made sure there was a lot of built in storage on her son’s wheelchair.

“We had pockets sewn into our son’s wheelchair to add to the amount it could carry. We have a deep zippered pocket on the backrest of the chair which saves me carrying a handbag as it fits keys, wallet, a drink and other bits and pieces. The deeper the pocket the better. We have a netting carry all underneath where we put jumpers etc and under the seat we have a zippered pocket. This is hidden by our son’s legs when he is in the chair and it proved the perfect place to keep our passports, extra cash and ipad,” said Julie.

For more invaluable insights go to:

www.havewheelchairwilltravel.net and the facebook page is www.facebook.com/havewheelchairwilltravel The facebook page concentrates on the smaller things like useful equipment and accessible cafes.

Both website and facebook page are worthy reads full of positive experiences aiming to motivate people.

Writer - Researcher
Ross Flood
rflood@cpsociety.org.nz

Havewheelchairwilltravel.net
“Surf access no problem”

Havewheelchairwilltravel.net
“All set for a river paddle”

2013 Archive Articles:
Feedback needed from disabled community on rail crossings 1/3/2013
FREE FISHING FROM WHEELCHAIRS!! 15/2/2013
A Treat for Dunedin 6/2/2013
Record Numbers at Boccia 2013 Tournament 24/1/2013
Invaluable Info at “Show-off Day” 16/1/2013
For Previous Years Archive Articles Click Here

© Cerebral Palsy Society of New Zealand 1984 - 2013

THE NEWS

facebook

Why not join us c
Facebook? Just Here

WEBSITE SURVEY

We are planning to revamp our website and give you your chances to give us some feedback. Do our online survey, your opinion is important to us. To access the survey click here

Eve Rimmer Games
A celebration of disability sports
22-24 MARCH
WHAKATANE
BOCCIA | GOALBALL | INDOOR ROWING | A
LAWN BOWLS | TABLE TENNIS | HANDCYCL
WHEELCHAIR BASKETBALL | WHEELCHAIR

Eve Rimmer Games
For more information click on

FUNCTIONS for the 2013 Year

The Christchurch and Dunedin midwinter events for 2012 were cancelled due to family and a trimmed budget. To clarify Jane's report in the latest edition of the Review Christmas events in Auckland and Christchurch for 2012 are on, and Midwinter events are scheduled. The Midwinter events South Island may be pushed into the current financial year Auckland and Christchurch events will be reduced to